PRME/CBS International Conference on Responsible Management Education: Sustainable Leadership in the era of Climate Change

23-24 November 2009, Copenhagen Business School
CALL FOR ABSTRACTS
(Deadline for abstracts: 21 September 2009)

As a relevant academic contribution to the Conference on Climate Change (COP15) in December 2009, where the future of global environmental sustainability will be negotiated and decided by Nation States and the United Nations, Copenhagen Business School will host an international conference on sustainable leadership and climate change in partnership with UN Principles for Responsible Management Education (PRME). Through its climate initiative CBS Climate Strategies for Business (CBS-CSB), CBS seeks to build a strong social sciences research network allowing business schools to contribute to climate solutions. The PRME Secretariat would like to encourage all the PRME growing community to attend this International Conference and add, through it, substantive content to our common efforts concerning curriculum change in management education.

Guidelines for proposals

All proposals must be relevant to the theme and sub-themes of the PRME /CBS International conference on Responsible Management Education: Sustainable Leadership in the Era of Climate Change. Proposals should have clearly stated objectives. We also seek project abstracts reflecting creative ways that research has been applied and or processed to curriculum change.

Are you aware of the PRME policy concerning Sharing Information on Progress?

Academic institutions participating in PRME have just one central commitment: to produce every 18 months a public document in order to Share Information on Progress with their stakeholders and with the PRME community. Please visit our policy, endorsed by the Global Forum for Responsible Management Education of December 2008, here
